Marble Arch Caves are one of Europe's finest showcaves allowing visitors to explore a fascinating, natural underworld of rivers, waterfalls, winding passages and lofty chambers.

Lively and informative guides conduct tours past a bewildering variety of cave formations - stalactites glisten above streamways and chambers while fragile mineral veils and cascades of creamy calcite coat walls and spread as shimmering terraces across rock strewn floors.

Spectacular walkways allow easy access while powerful lighting reveals the stunning beauty and grandeur of the caves. Electrically powered boats glide through huge caverns carrying visitors along a subterranean river.

Tours last for 75 minutes and are suitable for people of any age of average fitness. Comfortable walking shoes and a warm sweater are recommended.

The caves have good parking, a souvenir shop, restaurant, exhibition area, an audio-visual theatre and are located in a National Nature Reserve. Education Service available for schools and colleges. Advance bookings are accepted from large groups, families and individuals and are recommended at peak times.

In 2004 Marble Arch Caves and the nearby Cuilcagh Mountain Park were jointly recognised as a UNESCO Global Geopark. Currently one of only 25 such sites around the world.
